A Word from Bobby

Counting my Blessings

Have you ever laid awake at night and worried about life?

Some people would suggest counting sheep, but I am advising us to count our blessings from the Lord God Almighty. Bing Crosby has an old song called "Count your Blessings", however, recognizing and counting our blessings started way before Bing Crosby and his "White Christmas" song. We have been blessed by our Creator from the beginning and it is right and just to give thanks. As we begin to recognize what we have and we acknowledge with a grateful heart these many blessings, our attitude will become better.

Recently, I remembered being in Costa Rica with the legendary Rev. Marion Woods and we were complaining about the vehicle that we were riding in. It was his old white jeep that had so many miles on it and the steering issues were compounded by a broken tire rod. We were truly immature and ungrateful for our ride and we were demonstrating it until Marion Woods spoke to us. He acknowledged the complications of his vehicle then he reminded us that we are riding instead of walking like most of the people around us. He reminded us that we did not have to ride in his broken down vehicle and that we could walk or take public transportation like everyone else in Santa Clara. Finally, he asked us North Americans, "Do you know that I am giving you my very best?" The old vehicle did not change one bit, but our perspectives and attitudes did change, especially when we began to count that old vehicle as a blessing instead of a problem.

Another time, I remember staying in an African Boma (mud house) in East Africa with Dr. Michael Lolwerikoi. It was breakfast time and he brought one egg and a pancake with an African cup of Chi. The Chi was made of fresh goat's milk, honey and black tea. I asked him if I could have another pancake. He politely said "no" because there was no more ingredients in the house. Then he asked me a simple question, "do you not know that you have had more breakfast than every person in this village?". I simply forgot how blessed I was.

Learning to count our blessings instead of chasing our worries or problems could add years of joy to our lives. Appreciating life and those around you will create deep reservoirs of faith, hope and love.

Remember Ephesians 5:20

Giving thanks always and for everything to

God the Father in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ.

One of our newest water wells in Northern Kenya was given in memory of Paul Williams by his wife, Linda Williams, and family. When we first began Unto the Least of His ministry, Paul & Linda Williams were right there with us. Paul loved his family, his church, his country and Missions. Paul recently passed away with ALS, but his love will continued with us forever.

Thank you for the blessing of this new water truck and the water storage tanks! Countless lives have been saved in this drought! A big shout out to Montpelier UMC (Milledgeville) and Grace UMC (Savannah).

This is well #1. It is next to the main church in Kamina. We were surprised to discover that they did not have a good water source for the church compound or for the guest house and other buildings nearby.

All three wells are in the town of Kamina, Democratic Republic of the Congo and are associated with a local church. We like to put the wells in as a part of the church's outreach and witness to the local people.

Well #2

We had a great planning meeting tonight for an upcoming mission experience in Northern Kenya. Two of these beautiful young adults have been with us at the Adrian Church Camp. True Christian discipleship takes time for development. They are so excited about their Christian calling. Their ages

Praise the Lord! We have had another busy week. Training up future leaders is a privilege and a great responsibility. God is good! A big shout out to Rev. Gary Boyles and Youthwork Missions.
